

ABSTRACT

METHOD FOR OPERATING TWO RADIO COMMUNICATION SYSTEMS

In a case where the radio coverage of first and the second radio communication systems, each including a plurality of radio stations, overlaps at least partially, a message containing operating instructions for organization of communication within the second radio communication system is sent from the first radio communication system to at least some of the radio stations of the second radio communication system.